

Vermont, 0. Three thousand people saw the game. The gridiron was a bed of mud.

Dartmouth's Football Captain.

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 20.—The Dartmouth Athletic Association to-night chose John C. O'Connor of Haverhill, Mass., as Captain of next year's football eleven.

HARVARD'S LAST HARD PRACTICE.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 20.—The Harvard Varsity eleven held its last secret practice before the Yale game on Soldiers' Field this afternoon. All the regular Varsity players were in the line-up, and all save Ellis showed an improvement in play. Ellis took a decided slump, and was replaced early by Putnam. It is not likely, however, that this showing will interfere with his playing in the Yale game.

In its practice game the Varsity scored three touch-downs and a goal from field. But both on offense and on defense the eleven showed signs of weakness. The weather was warm and muggy. The backs and ends were exhausted by hard signal practice held this morning. The centre and guards played high. The backs lacked snap in rushing. On defense the centre men and backs were again weak, the former not showing fight and the latter failing to support the line. Kendall alone improved, and his work was almost brilliant.

The Varsity's touch-downs were secured mostly by end runs, Devens attaining the last on a fifty-yard dodging run. Sawin kicked a goal from field from the twenty-five-yard line. To-morrow the Varsity will hold open practice at 3:30 o'clock, preceded by a few minutes of signal work in secret. On Thursday the eleven and substitutes will leave for Meriden, where they will stay until Saturday morning.

Harvard's athletic management has issued a warning against the purchase of Harvard-Yale tickets from speculators, as it has been learned on good authority that counterfeit tickets will be put on sale Saturday.

INDIANS' HARD PRACTICE.

Special to The New York Times.

CARLISLE, Penn., Nov. 20.—Notwithstanding a heavy drizzle, Coach Warner took the Indian football team out on the practice field this afternoon and put it through a hard and long practice in falling on the ball, signal work, passing, and running down punts. The day's work ended with a line-up against the second team, which was productive of some quick playing.

The secret of the rush of work now being indulged in lies in the awful uncertainty as to the Columbia game on Thanksgiving. Coach Warner is undoubtedly on needles concerning this game. Assistant Coach Ralston has been doing effective work with the second team in the past few days.

A person watching the first team's practice must be impressed with the great amount of fumbling and the inability to line up quickly after the ball is down. While not expressing serious doubts concerning the outcome of the Washington Jefferson game, the local officials have instructed the men to fight hard, as little is known of the strength of the collegians. In the Pittsburg game there will be two men, at least, who have never touched a football before this year—Parker and Dillon—and two—Johnson and Williams—for whom this is the first season of first-team work. The most wonderful feature of the Carlisle School's athletic work is the rapidity with which football players are made.

Secret Practice at Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Cornell's recent football defeat has tended to inspire to greater effort rather than dampen enthusiasm. To-day saw earnest work resumed, and every preparation is now under way for the big game with the University of Pennsylvania on Thanksgiving Day. Coach Haughton and Porter worked alone to-day, but late this week new graduate arrivals are expected, and Cornell's defense, which was severely punctured in the Lafayette game, will be strengthened for the second assault of the guards' back formation which Pennsylvania will employ. Capt. Starbuck is at present laid up with injuries, but Trainer Moakley hopes to have him in fit shape for the final game of the season. Secret practice was held and will be continued for the remainder of the season.

Princeton Players Awarded the "P."

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 20.—The University Athletic Association announced to-day that the following men who played in the Yale game are entitled to wear the Yale "P":

H. R. Reiter, post-graduate; A. V. Duncan, 1901; Halsted Little, 1901; G. M. Mattis, 1901; Herbert McCord, 1902; A. E. Meier, 1902; M. F. Mills, 1902; H. W. Pell, 1902; W. W. Roper, 1902; R. R. Sheffield, 1902; A. G. Wright, 1902; J. W. Losey, 1903; S. W. McClave, 1903; T. A. Butkiewicz, 1901; Ralph Davis, 1904, and H. R. Hartz, 1904.

The advisability of a head coach for next year to supervise all the coaching is being seriously considered by the athletic authorities.

Baseball Agreement Extended.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—President "Dan" Johnson of the American Baseball League stated to-day that he had received telegrams from all the clubs in the league agreeing to extend for thirty days the present five-year agreement, which expires to-night. This will give thirty days in which to meet and perfect the organization with the new circuit, which is to include Washington and Baltimore.

Harvard's Class Football Games.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 20.—The first regular games of the Harvard class football series were played this afternoon, the juniors defeating the seniors 10 to 0, and the sophomores defeating the freshmen 11 to 0. The final game between the juniors and sophomores for the championship will be played Thursday.

Ogdensburg Defeats Vermont.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The University of Vermont football team and the Ogdensburg eleven played in this city this afternoon. Score: Ogdensburg, 20;
